

Elie Bashkow Minigrant Outcome Report

With my Minigrant, I got some really great room treatment and it was probably one of the best decisions for my setup that I could've made. After carefully arranging my Primacoustics London 8 Acoustic panels set in my room, I could instantly hear a difference and it really brought out the best in my speakers. The stereo image became more clear, distinct, and open. Low frequencies became much clearer and easier to hear. Prior to setting up the acoustic treatment my listening position had a severe dip at 80 hz and a real big node around 280 hz which I was always trying to compensate for when mixing. The panels didn't erase this completely but significantly improved it. I loved them so much that I even brought my acoustic panels with me this past summer when I went to Nashville for two months to work on music. I'm really satisfied with my purchase and am even considering getting more treatment once I'm able to do so.
