Third-year Miller Art Scholar
Fall 2023 Minigrant Outcome Report

Developing and Maintaining an Online Portfolio

I'd like to thank the Miller Arts program for awarding me a minigrant of $450 to help me boost my online portfolio. I believe that this is a great start to my career as an artist.

With the minigrant I was able to purchase the Wix Light plan coming out to $192 for the year to give myself a credible form of protection and quality for the site. This plan also allowed me to obtain a free domain for a year, and I took that to make my website more professional.

I was also able to renew my Adobe Creative Cloud subscription to continue not only creating art, but specifically for the website I made a bunch of banners to give each page on my website its own personality. This came out to $239.88 for the year. I've enjoyed making this website into my own art piece, and adding some movement to a generally static environment.

With my website so far I have used it to help create my Miller Arts Discussion's Portfolio Presentation, and also develop my graphic portfolio in more detail. I am also applying to internships using the website confident that I have a good representation of myself.

To continue the work on this website I am going to be working more on the presentation of my case studies for my UI/UX portion of the portfolio. I am still learning a lot in that field and will always have to be updating and editing my designs to reflect my skills and my ability to learn. I am hopeful that this website will help me land a job in the near future, but I know that it will benefit me long term.

The website can be found at <https://www.czoedelman.com/>

Images of the banners, or heroes, that I made are included below. For full movement please see my website.
