Delving into Film Photography

First, thank you to the Miller Arts Scholars for the generous minigrant that helped me to add a new artistic skill to my toolkit. I requested $500 to purchase a film camera, photographic paper, and film. Through this minigrant, I was able to learn a new skill through my practice of film photography. I have shot all the black and white film and developed it. A few examples are shown below. I am continuing to work on shooting the color film. I will need to send that to a developer because UVA doesn't have the proper equipment to develop color film negatives. I am excited to continue to explore how film can capture the world. As for my budget, I spent all $500. I came in about $15 below what I had originally thought because the paper and the film canisters were slightly cheaper when I ordered them than when I created my original budget. In the future, I will be able to continue using my new film camera, learning more about color film photography, and exploring photographic processes with printmaking.
