

Lydia Newman
Artist Minigrant Outcome Report
Spring 2021

Headshots: An Actor's First Impression
Outcome Report

Results

Thanks to the grant I recieved from Miller Arts Scholars, I was able to travel to Richmond, VA to get my makeup and hair professionally done by Emily King Brown and get headshots done by Jeremy Bustin Photography. When he sent me the initial photos, Jeremy advised to choose at least one commercial shot, and one dramatic/theatrical shot. I ended up choosing the four images below.

Initially, the headshots were supposed to be around $397. However, I reached out to Miller Arts alum Payton Moledor and she was able to add me to a Facebook group where I found a discount for Jeremy's headshot sessions. I used the additional money I had to purchase tops that I felt would achieve the looks I was going for in my session.

I really like my final images, and Jeremy is a great resource for actors; he gave me a lot of advice. He told me that is going to continue to give discounts to UVA students, so I would highly recommend him to future scholars who are looking to get headshots done. I look forward to using these images to establish a professional presence online and in auditions.

Expenditures

Expense	Description	Total
Professional Headshots	A 1.5 hour session with 3 looks by Jeremy Bustin Photography	$250
Makeup and Hair	I got my hair and makeup professionally done by an artist who Jeremy Bustin regularly works with.	$220
Headshot Tops	Three shirts for my headshot looks.	$30
	Total Cost:	$500