

Susana Kuhn Fall Mini Grant Outcome Report

Thanks to Miller Arts Scholars I have been able to begin on my way to job applications and seek out resources for career advancement through subscriptions to accounts such as Backstage and Play Submission Helper as well as through ordering books and scripts to read through as I round out my education in acting.

While I have yet to apply to any full-time positions, the platforms, and the readings that I have worked with have been extremely informative and I have been able to network and connect with people from various theater companies around NYC to discuss summer internships and apprenticeships in Artistic and Literary Management as well as Directing and Writing through companies such as the Manhattan Theater Club. As I finish up the semester, I hope to continue to pursue some of these longer-term opportunities as well!

Although in my original proposal, I proposed to spend the remaining money on a ticket to A Strange Loop, there were no tickets available on the dates that I was free to attend this performance and so I instead opted for tickets to Some Like it Hot on Broadway. This was an incredible experience in which I got to see one of my favorite actors, Christian Borle perform live. Within the past year I have worked on 2 shows in which he was an original cast member and so this was an especially special experience.

Budget:

Expense	Description	Amount
Play Submission Helper Subscription	1 year subscription	$120
Backstage Subscription	1 year subscription	$99.96
Dramaturgy Intensive at the Kennedy Center	Will apply during my spring semester to attend virtually between June 1-June 28 2022	$150
The Empty Space	Written by Peter Brook, Purchased on Amazon	$13
Caryl Church Hill Plays volume 2	Purchased on Amazon	$15.25
Duncan MacMillan Plays (Volume 1)	By Duncan MacMillan, Purchased on Amazon	$18
The Viewpoints Book	By Anne Bogart and Tina Landau	$16.99
The Actor's Book of Contemporary Stage Monologues	By Nina Shengold	$5.39
Ticket to Some Like it Hot on Broadway		$80