

Fall 2017 Minigrant Outcome Reports

Kaiming Cheng 3rd Year Music and Computer Science

The Project is a huge success. These professional photographers capture some real valuable moment and record all three performances. We opened for ACC Smithsonian Creativity and Innovation Festival, which is programmed by the Museum's Lemelson Center for the Study of Invention and Innovation, was a three-day celebration of creative exploration and research at the nexus of science, engineering, arts, and design. Our performance represents the combination of technology with music, which creates some very interesting sound and receive high recognition.

We also performed at UVA Bicentennial Celebration, accompanied with other great vocal/dance performer:

We Opened for Next Generation Reception, a peaceful art event responds to what happened to us in August:
